Design a park – absolute monarchy

You have been asked to design a new park to celebrate Australia as a nation. You will decide how big the park is and what will be included in it. You have an unlimited budget.

Principles of working in an absolute monarchy:

- One person is the leader (the teacher will nominate this person).
- The leader will design and draw the park.
- The leader can discuss this with the rest of the group, but does not have to listen to anyone else.
- The leader is the only person responsible for the park design.
- The leader can allocate jobs to others (e.g. draw the park or colour a section), but those people must follow the leader's directions exactly. They cannot argue with the leader.
- The leader can change a job at any time.
