

DEMOCRACY DOWN UNDER

Design a park – representative democracy

You have been asked to design a new park to celebrate Australia as a nation. You will decide how big the park is and what will be included in it. You have an unlimited budget.

Principles of working in a representative democracy:

- The whole group discusses the park design and what it should look like.
- The group must then select the best two or three people to work on the design.
- The two or three responsible people can consult the others for advice at any time.
- These people are responsible for designing a park that everyone likes.